QUALITY POLICY

Teledyne Analytical Instruments is committed to understanding and meeting the needs and applicable requirements of our customers and relevant interested parties.

Continual improvement of our quality management system, as well as maintenance of its effectiveness, is assured by systematically:

- Maintaining and communicating a clear strategic direction for the organization
- Understanding our risks and opportunities and addressing them effectively
- Setting quality objectives and monitoring associated metrics
- Communicating to all employees our quality objectives, as well as each employee's role in meeting them
- Enhancing customer satisfaction through the effective application of the system

It is a condition of employment that personnel of Teledyne Analytical Instruments adhere to the letter and spirit of our quality management system.
